Start With Art

Space Cat from a wall in Johannesburg, South Africa
Start With Art

Woman with Hen 1860-80 by Jānis Stanislavs Roze
Here are two Roman statues of dogs. The one on the left is in the British Museum in London, England. The dog on the right is in the Vatican Collection. What makes these statues similar? What makes them different? Could the same person have made both of these statues almost 2000 years ago?
Start With Art

Roman statue of a bull, 1-300 A.D.
Start With Art

Student Art from Cape Town, South Africa

Photo by Brett Brigham
Start With Art

Inca feline jug with bird, Larco Museum, Lima, Peru
Start With Art

Roman floor with fish mosaic, Rome, Italy

Photo by Burt Brigham
Start With Art

One of the famous lion statues. Piazza San Marco, Venice, Italy

Photo by Brett Brigham
White Horse by Ādams Alksnis, 1860
Start With Art

Boy with a Monkey by Jānis Roberts Tillbergs 1912
Start With Art

Ducks by Johans Valters 1898
Start With Art

Roman Floor Mosaic-Chicken with Worms
Start With Art

Pug dog from a painting by Francisco De Goya, 1786
Start With Art

Statue of Egyptian God Anubis, Roman, 1st-2nd century A.D.
Start With Art

Beauty by Brett Bigham, Collage, Johannesburg, South Africa 2018
No Title! What would call it? Wall painting in Johannesburg, South Africa-2018
Start With Art

The Bremen Town Musicians by Krista Baumgaertel
bronze statue, Riga, Latvia
Start With Art

Lady with her Dogs by J. Ust Kidding 2018
Portrait of Sophie Menter by Sally Von Kügelgen (1869-1928)
Start With Art

Maman 1999 by Louise Bourgeois at the Tate Gallery
London England
Start With Art

Sekhmet Statues at the British Museum. These were found lining a road at the Temple of Mut in Luxor, Egypt
Start With Art

Blue Fox by Franz Marc
Von der Heydt Museum, Wuppertal, Germany